Introduction

This study guide is designed to help prepare candidates for the NCCAOM certification examinations. Passage of the NCCAOM certification examinations is one of the requirements to become a Diplomate in Oriental Medicine (NCCAOM®). Academic program officials from ACAOM (Accreditation Commission for Acupuncture and Oriental Medicine) accredited Oriental medicine programs will also benefit from reviewing the content in this guide. The NCCAOM® Examination Study Guide for Diplomate in Oriental Medicine has all the examination preparation materials and information published by the NCCAOM in one document.

Candidates for NCCAOM Certification in Oriental Medicine are applicants who have met all of the academic and/or training requirements for NCCAOM® Certification in Oriental Medicine. Candidates for NCCAOM certification have qualified by one of the established eligibility routes published in the NCCAOM® Certification Handbook. The latest edition of this handbook is available on the NCCAOM website at www.nccaom.org.

All candidates for certification have completed a minimum number of hours of academic course work to qualify to take each required examination (see chart below). Completion of these hours of course work qualifies the applicant to sit for the following Oriental Medicine Certification Examinations as a "pre-graduate". Additional hours are required for final certification.

In addition to passing the above certification exams all candidates for NCCAOM Certification in Oriental Medicine must document successful completion of a clean needle technique (CNT) course. More information on the certificate program in CNT offered by the Council of Colleges of Acupuncture and Oriental Medicine is available on their website at www.ccaom.org. The CNT certificate documentation can be submitted any time before or after the candidate has applied to take the NCCAOM certification exams. Please refer to the NCCAOM® Certification Handbook for more information.

Once the candidate for certification passes all of the above certification examinations there are two more steps to complete the certification process: 1) Submit to NCCAOM for verification, a CNT Certificate, and 2) Notify the academic institution to send the final graduation transcripts to the NCCAOM. More information can be found in the NCCAOM® Certification Handbook.
Examination Development

The NCCAO M examination study guides provide background information on the validation of the NCCAO M certification examinations. All NCCAO M certification programs are currently accredited by the National Commission for Certification Agencies (NCCA). The Oriental Medicine Certification Program carries the NCCA seal.

In order for the NCCAO M Certification in Oriental Medicine Program to remain accredited by NCCA, the NCCAO M must adhere to strict national standards for examination development. All certification exams for the NCCAO M Certification in Oriental Medicine Program must meet the examination content validity standards set forth by NCCA. The following contains information on validation of the examination content.

The NCCAO M contracts with Schroeder Measurement Technologies, Inc. (SMT) to develop all NCCAO M certification examinations. SMT is a psychometric consulting group that serves to provide all examination development validation studies and scoring for the NCCAO M examinations.

Examination Content Validation

The foundation of a valid, reliable, and legally defensible professional certification program is first the result of a well-constructed job task analysis study (JTA). A JTA establishes the link between test scores and competencies assessed by the examination and thus the inference that the scores achieved by candidates on the certification examinations are based on valid content. Therefore, all “pass” or “fail” decisions correlate to competency assessment (performance) as measured by the examination. The JTA is a process by which tasks performed by NCCAO M certified practitioners are examined for importance (which considers criticality of the tasks performed and frequency by which the tasks are performed in practice). A minimum of every five years the NCCAO M conducts a JTA, in order to update the examination content outlines. Content decisions for the examination content outlines are directly linked to the results of the most recent JTA. During the 2008 JTA study, NCCAO M subject matter experts (NCCAO M Diplomates who have expertise and experience as a faculty member or practitioner) provided the list of knowledge, skills and abilities (KSAs) statements for the NCCAO M Acupuncture, Biomedicine, Foundations of Oriental Medicine, and Chinese Herbology content outlines. A survey instrument was developed by an NCCAO M appointed JTA Taskforce. The survey instrument was provided to currently practicing NCCAO M Diplomates in order to inquire about the relative “importance” and “frequency” of performing their different job tasks. The survey results were reviewed and interpreted by the JTA Taskforce members and the NCCAO M subject matter experts (SMEs) and, as a result, new content outlines were developed for all NCCAO M certification exams. The 2010 examination content outlines contained in this study guide are based on the 2008 JTA. Interpretation of the JTA results was based on use of systematic decision criteria. The 2008 JTA provides content validity support and linkage to the examination items (i.e., questions on the examinations) for all NCCAOM certification exams for the Oriental Medicine Certification Program.

This NCCAOM® Examination Study Guide for Diplomate in Oriental Medicine provides all the content outlines for each examination required for NCCAOM Certification in Oriental Medicine. Each content outline lists the percent weightings for each section (i.e., Domains) within the outline and gives a detailed list of KSAs for each domain and sub-domain. The listing of the KSAs is included to give the candidate more information about the competency expected for each domain.

Item Writing

The second step in developing a defensible examination program occurs after the content outlines (i.e., test blueprints) are constructed. After a test content outline is developed, examination items are written to match the content outline. Each item must be “linked” to a content area listed on a content outline and written based on the supporting KSA statements.

Item writing events held across the country are conducted to assist the NCCAOM® Examination Development Committees (EDCs) in developing new items for the certification examinations. Most recently, the EDCs, composed of a panel of SMEs, representing practitioners and educators from different regions of the United States and from various practice settings, convened for the purpose of writing, reviewing, and revising examination items to meet strict content guidelines and test construction standards. NCCAOM test development staff members and experienced SMEs train the item writers on how to write NCCAOM acceptable multiple-choice items. The goal of the training is to define appropriate item formats, train the SMEs on what is not an appropriate item (e.g., using “none or all of the above” as a distractor, making the key longer or shorter than the distractors, using negatively worded items), and how to review various item types, including the cognitive complexities associated with items.

Item Review

Once new items are written and edited for format, a panel of SMEs meets with a testing staff liaison to review and edit the new items. Once the items are approved by the SMEs, the test development staff enters the item(s) into the appropriate item bank and codes the items according to the content outline specifications. The NCCAOM EDC meets annually to review the current and new items. Additionally, each question is reviewed for performance statistics (i.e. a psychometric evaluation). The statistical evaluation allows the SMEs to see when the correct answer is found by guessing (there are some very specific flags that help us to see that) or if the answer has more than one (or no) correct answers. This is not to say that all exams are perfect, but the NCCAOM applies very strict standards so that every effort is made to avoid errors in the test item.
Exam Administration

All NCCAOM examinations for the Oriental Medicine Certification Program are given as a computer based administration. The table below gives the examination administration features for the 2011 Oriental Medicine Certification Program Examinations administration at the Pearson VUE Professional Test Centers.

2011 Expanded Content Outlines

Based on the JTA conducted in April 2008, the updated content outlines for the Certification in Oriental Medicine are included below. As in the previous year, the 2011 Content Outlines now include the KSA statements. The KSAs are designed to help guide the candidates in studying for each examination. All of the examinations administered in 2011 will be based on these content outlines. Each KSA statement gives the candidate the level of competency expected for the particular content area listed on the outline. Please note that the Oriental Medicine Certification includes the content outlines for the following examinations: Acupuncture with Point Location, Foundations for Oriental Medicine, Biomedicine, and Chinese Herbology.

The Acupuncture with Point Location Expanded Content Outline

The following content outline is effective on January 1, 2011. Below is the Expanded Content Outline for the Acupuncture with Point Location examination, which includes the Knowledge, Skills and Abilities (KSA) statements.

* Please note in regards to Clean Needle Technique (CNT), the Biomedicine module focuses on universal precautions and emergency situations in comparison to the Acupuncture with Point Location module which focuses on actual needling and its emergencies (e.g., needle angle and depth).

The NCCAOM offers the following online practice tests subscriptions:

- Acupuncture
- Chinese Herbology
- Foundations of Oriental Medicine
- Comprehensive for Oriental Medicine
- Comprehensive for Acupuncture

The Acupuncture, Chinese Herbology, and Foundations of Oriental Medicine Online Practice Tests each contain five (5) individual practice tests consisting of 50 multiple-choice questions specifically for the practice examination. The Acupuncture Online Practice Test does not contain any point location images; however, the Comprehensive Online Practice Test for Oriental Medicine and the Comprehensive Online Practice Test for Acupuncture both contain biomedicine questions. The Comprehensive Online Practice Tests, each contain five (5) individual practice tests consisting of 50 multiple choice questions which have a combination of Foundations, Acupuncture, Biomedicine, and Chinese Herbology questions (example: Practice Test 1 may have 15 Foundations items, 15 Acupuncture items, 10 Biomedicine items, and 10 Chinese Herbs items and Practice Test 2 may have 10 Foundations items, 10 Acupuncture items, 15 Biomedicine, and 15 Chinese herbs, etc.).

All of the online practice test subscriptions are valid for 90 days of unlimited use.

The practice tests are designed to demonstrate the types of questions that are included in the exam but do not exactly reflect the current exam content outlines. The practice tests are a great opportunity for applicants to become familiar with NCCAOM format and to adjust to computerized testing. Performance on the practice tests is not necessarily an indicator for performance on the actual exam.

The practice test link can be found on the NCCAOM website at www.nccaom.org under the “Applicants” menu, “Exam Content” page in the “Resource Links” box on the bottom right of the page.
Frequently Asked Questions

Examination Administration Frequently Asked Questions and Answers (Q&A)

In an effort to assist our candidates and school representatives to better understand our examination processes, we have created a list of questions and answers that explain in detail our examination administration policies and procedures. NCCAOM has a high level of commitment to upholding the integrity of the NCCAOM certifications as a meaningful measure of entry-level competency in order to protect the public safety. This commitment cannot be overstated; it is a requirement of our mission, which is to establish, assess, and promote recognized standards of competence and safety in acupuncture and Oriental medicine for the protection and benefit of the public.

A majority of the questions and answers listed below relate to the Acupuncture with Point Location, Biomedicine, Chinese Herbology, and Foundations of Oriental Medicine examinations. A separate Asian Bodywork Therapy Frequently Asked Questions and Answers document is available on the NCCAOM website.

Question #1: When can I take the next examination as I do not see a schedule of exams on the website?

Answer: NCCAOM is pleased to be providing year-round testing for three of our certification exams except for Biomedicine, Asian Bodywork Therapy, and foreign language exams, which means that “Approved to Test” candidates (who have received an authorization letter in the mail from NCCAOM) can now register for the NCCAOM examination(s) throughout the year, pending availability at their desired Pearson VUE test center locations.

Please note: the Biomedicine exam will be administered during four, two-week time periods in 2011:

- February 14-26
- May 9-21
- July 18-30
- October 24 – November 5

Candidates can register for the examination(s) by calling Pearson VUE directly or registering online (the “Authorization to Test” letter will have detailed registration information and instructions). Candidates can now register for their exams according to their own schedule and at their own convenience. Pearson VUE offers more than 230 Pearson Professional Test Centers around the world. When candidates register, they pay Pearson VUE directly for their exams using Visa, MasterCard or American Express credit cards.

Question #2: What does open registration mean and why is there no application or registration deadlines announcement?
Answer: Open registration means that candidates no longer have to wait for the NCCAOM examinations to be announced (except Biomedicine, Asian Bodywork Therapy and foreign language examinations). Once candidates are approved to test, they can register and schedule their exam for any time that is available at a Pearson VUE Professional testing center. This means that candidates can test and be finished with the examination cycles quicker and test at a time more convenient for them.

Year-round examinations will allow candidates to become certified and licensed to practice much faster than in the years past. One of the great benefits of year-round testing is that there is no need to for the NCCAOM to enforce application or registration deadlines. Candidates can send in their application when they have completed their education and will be able to test after they receive an “Approval to Test” letter from NCCAOM. This also means that candidates no longer have to wait for the next examination cycle to register and test. Thus, candidates do not need to wait for the next application cycle if they have missed an application deadline, or to rush to send in their application for the upcoming examination administration. With year-round testing, candidates can test at their own pace.

Please remember that candidates must still allow 10-12 weeks for processing of their application before they are approved to test. It is also important to remember that candidates have four years from the date that NCCAOM receives their application to test and become certified. Candidates who need to retake an examination must wait 45 days from the previous recorded test. Candidates will not be allowed to re-schedule their previously failed examination prior to the 45 day waiting period for any reason. The 45-day waiting period allows for the candidate to receive their score report (diagnostic) and review before the exam is repeated.

Question #3: Which exams are offered year-round?

Answer: The NCCAOM offers the following examinations throughout the year for 2011:

- Acupuncture with Point Location
- Chinese Herbology
- Foundations of Oriental Medicine

Due to the increase in the Biomedicine exam questions, the Biomedicine Examination will be offered in linear format during four (4) test administration periods that will each be two (2) weeks in duration in 2011. These dates are February 14-26, May 9-21, July 18-30, and October 24 – November 5, 2011. It will not be offered throughout the year in 2011.

Question #4: What about those who want to take the test in Chinese or Korean?

Answer: The foreign language examinations are typically offered every other year usually in the fall. Currently, the foreign language exams are scheduled to be administered in the Fall of 2011. Exact dates will be announced

Question #5: Are you planning on combining any other exams or making any changes with any of the exams?
Answer: At this time, the NCCAOM is not planning to combine any exams. In 2010, the number of exam questions for the Biomedicine Examination increased from 50 to 100 multiple-choice questions in an allotted time of 2 ½ hours for completion, similar to the other exams. Due to this change, the Biomedicine Examination will be offered in linear format during four (4) test administration periods that will each be two (2) weeks in duration. These dates are February 14-26, May 9-21, July 18-30, and October 24 –November 5, 2011.

Question #6: What does year-round testing mean for scoring? Does this mean that I will receive my exam results faster?

Answer: Yes! Year-round testing made possible by adaptive testing (see Questions 7 and 8 for information about adaptive testing) will enable NCCAOM to provide you with immediate on screen “Preliminary Pass or Fail” status. This means that candidates will receive a preliminary pass/fail screen immediately after they submit their answers, while at the Pearson Professional Test Center.

The official score report will be mailed within 20 business days from completion of the examination. The state licensing boards will also receive your examination results at a much quicker rate, which means that the time passed before receiving your license will be greatly reduced.

This does not apply for linear exams - Biomedicine, Asian Bodywork Therapy, and foreign language examinations. Candidates taking a linear exam must wait 30-40 business days after the close of the test administration window to receive their score.

Question #7: What is the format of the examinations?

Answer: The Acupuncture with Point Location, Chinese Herbology and Foundations of Oriental Medicine examinations each have 100 multiple-choice questions with a 2 ½ hour time limit. The *Biomedicine examination consists of 100 multiple-choice questions with 2 ½ hours allotted for completion of the exam. Note: The Biomedicine Examination is offered in linear format for 2011.

In order for NCCAOM to be able to provide you with year-round testing and to provide an immediate preliminary pass/fail screen, we are offering candidates a form of testing called adaptive testing. What this means to the candidates is that each examination is different and is geared towards the ability of the candidate. If a question is answered correctly, the next question is slightly more difficult. If a question is answered incorrectly, the next question will be slightly easier. One feature that is required for this format is the inability to review exam questions once you have finished answering the questions. As adaptive testing measures your content knowledge with each question, you will be unable to go back to a question once you have moved onto the next question. Adaptive testing has been used for certification testing in other healthcare areas for more than 18 years and offers one of the most reliable measures of competency.

Question #8: Can you explain adaptive testing in more detail and what this means to us as candidates?

Answer: An internet search will help you to find many different descriptions Computer Adaptive Testing (CAT). The easiest explanation we have is that it is a computerized test in which the computer selects the examination questions based on the individual candidate’s ability. Some have compared it to jumping a high bar – if you get over the bar, the next time the bar is higher, but if you miss, the bar is lowered. Of course, in this example, if the bar is too low you cannot pass the examination. Another analogy is to that of an interview. When someone is being interviewed, the interviewer will adjust the difficulty of the questions based on previous responses.

The objective of adaptive testing is to determine the candidate’s ability with the least amount of measurement error. It is not the number of correct or incorrect questions, but the overall score based on the difficulty of the questions, the overall examination and the ability of the candidate. One aspect of adaptive testing that is difficult to explain is that the best candidates feel as if they have just taken the most challenging exam of their academic career. This is, unfortunately, the nature of this exam type. In trying to determine the candidate’s ability, the exam will continue to get more and more difficult. The candidate should not panic as this is a direct result of doing very well on the exam.

Question #9: What are the benefits of taking the CAT or adaptive format of the exam?

Answer: There are many benefits that candidates will enjoy with adaptive and year-round testing as outlined above. These include no eligibility deadlines and a preliminary pass/fail screen immediately following the exam. Your examination can be scheduled at your convenience at over 230 Pearson Professional Test Centers around the world; your application materials can be submitted at any time (please allow 10-12 weeks for processing); and, finally, at the end of the examination you will be able to see your preliminary pass/fail status. Final score reports also go to the state licensing boards much more quickly. The other most obvious positive changes are that of shorter examinations and lowest possible overall costs to candidates.
Question #10: If I fail the exam, can I immediately sign up for the exam again?

Answer: No. Candidates who need to retake an NCCAOM examination must wait 45 days from the previous recorded test. Candidates will not be allowed to reschedule their examination prior to the 45 day waiting period for any reason.

NCCAOM recommends that you give yourself sufficient time to prepare for the retake of the examination that you failed. Remember that after three attempts, you must submit 15 Professional Development Activity points in the content area of weakness in order to sit a fourth time. Also, you are only allowed a total of five (5) opportunities to take an examination.

Question #11: Do I have to answer all of the questions on the exam or can I leave some answers blank?

Answer: You must answer all of the questions on the exam in order for your examination to be scored. Note: If you do not answer all of the questions on an adaptive exam, you will not receive a preliminary pass or fail status while at the test center. You must wait until you receive the official score report via mail.

Question #12: Does the NCCAOM publish a list of formulas that will be tested in the Chinese Herbology Examination?

Answer: Yes. A list of formulas is made available with the Chinese Herbology content outline on the NCCAOM website. A list of single herbs is not available.

Question #13: Does the NCCAOM publish a list of the terminology for the channels and other terms?

Answer: Yes. The NCCAOM currently provides a nomenclature list, which is a cross-reference of terms that are frequently used in the English language literature. This nomenclature list is available in each of the NCCAOM® Study Guides.

Question #14: I am not certain what is covered in the Foundations of Oriental Medicine Examination compared to the Acupuncture with Point Location Examination.

Answer: Please refer to the Acupuncture with Point Location and Foundations of Oriental Medicine Content Outlines, which can be accessed through the NCCAOM website, www.nccaom.org.

Question #15: How many questions do I have to answer correctly in order to pass an examination?
Answer: With the examinations being adaptive (see Questions 7 and 8 for information about adaptive testing); there is NO predetermined correct number of questions that have to be answered correctly in order for a candidate to pass. It is not the number of correct or incorrect questions, but the overall score based on the difficulty of the questions, the overall examination and the ability of the candidate.

Question #16: I failed the exam and received my score report, what areas do I need to focus on for the next examination?

Answer: Using your score report, areas where you scored below 70 units are areas to focus your studies as well as taking into consideration the content percentage of that section on the content outline. Please remember the scores are scaled scores, not percentages.

Question #17: I failed the exam for the first time, how many candidates pass the exam during their first attempt?

Answer: The pass rate for first time test takers (FTTT) is actually high. Please refer to the pass rate comparison report for 2007-2010 below.

Pass Rate: First Time Test Takes for 2007 to 2010

Question #17: If I failed an exam more than three times, can I retake the exam again?

Answer: Candidates who have failed any exam group (e.g. Biomedicine: adaptive or linear, English or foreign language), more than three times must complete 15 hours of professional development activities and submit it to NCCAOM prior to the 4th attempt of the exam. Also, Candidates who have failed an examination module five times can no longer retake that exam.
